

Town Council Will Assist The Project for Natural Gas

Well To Be Drilled On Power House Property; Council Hold Special meeting, and so decide.

A special meeting of the Town Council was held on Wednesday evening last for the express purpose of dealing with the following letter from the Anglo-Alberta Oils Ltd., with regard to drilling for natural gas to provide a supply of that commodity to the citizens:

The Mayor and Council:

Dear Sirs—I am instructed by Anglo-Alberta Oils Limited to make formal application to your honorable body for authorisation, so far as authority may be granted by you as a body, to prosecute the sinking of a well on certain lots in Block 1, Plan 6445V in the Township of Wainwright the object of drilling being the location of gas.

I am also to ascertain on what basis the town will furnish the above company with steam for drilling purposes together with water required and shall be pleased to learn at the same time the amount of water you estimate you could furnish daily.

Yours truly

N. S. Kenny, secretary

All members of the Council were present, and the Mayor having taken the chair, it was moved that the Council go into Committee of the Whole.

Carried.

After a very full discussion relative to the application and other matters pertaining thereto, it was decided to adjourn until the opinion of the Town Solicitor could be taken as to some points which were not quite clear.

On Friday evening the adjourned special meeting was called, and Councilor Davison was appointed to the chair in Committee of the Whole.

Several matters of previous argument were then explained and threshed out and the following report was then drawn up:

We, a Committee of the Whole, do report that after mature consideration of the application of the Anglo-Alberta Oils Ltd., and on the written opinion of our solicitor regarding the legality as to the drilling location, we would recommend that the erection of a derrick and the accessories thereon Block 1 Plan 6445V G.T.P. Townsite be permitted, as it is not considered a nuisance in any way at the present time.

We would further recommend that the Town supply excess steam from the electric light power house up to and including October 31st, 1926, for the sum of $25.00 per day of 20 hours and from any cause that the Anglo-Alberta Oils Ltd. are idle for seven days or over they to pay the wages of the extra man and the price of the steam at the rate of $25.00 as arranged.

All expenses in regard to the steam and other connections that will necessarily have to be made to be borne by the Anglo-Alberta Oils Ltd. and such connections to be by them installed.

Payment for the use of steam to be made monthly at the office of the Secretary Treasurer.

It was then moved by Councilors Davison and Welch that the report of the Committee of the Whole be adopted as presented, and that a copy of the same be forwarded to the Anglo-Alberta Oils Ltd. for their acceptance.

This motion was carried and the meeting adjourned.

ROY BERRY STILL "TOP HOLE" AT RIG BUILDING

Roy Berry is again back in town from the Ribstone district, where he has been setting up rigs for the Imperial Oil Co., and his purpose this trip is to at once set about erecting the new derrick which the Anglo-Alberta company will use to drill their new location on Block 1 in the townsite. Roy expects to have this erection completed in a couple of weeks and will then go after the black gold at the bottom of the Interior well which has been shut down since the departure of Mr. F. Berford. We learn that still other companies entering the field are seeking Roy's services—and they know his value, too.

The result in 1925 was: Spencer (P), 5,067; Lee (L), 1,690; Morrison (C), 1,634.

Bow River—A. C. Scratch, Conservative, and E. J. Garland, Progressive are in the field. In the 1925 election the result was: Garland (P), 3,773; Gouge (L), 2,917; Douglas (C), 2,075.

Calgary East—Fred Davis, sitting Conservative member, is at present the only candidate in the field. There is little doubt that he will be opposed by a Labor candidate. The result in 1925 was: Davis (C) 5,560; Irvine (Lab.), 3,710; Davidson (L), 2,519.

Calgary West—Hon. R. B. Bennett minister of finance, is opposed by H. W. Lunney, Liberal. The result in 1925 was: Bennett (C), 10,256; Shaw (Ind.), 6,040.

Camrose—W. T. Lucas, Progressive sitting member, is opposed by D. R. McIvor, Liberal. The result in 1925 was: Lucas (P) 4,202; Thomas (L), 1,885; Scott (C), 1,409.

Edmonton East—A. U. G. Bury Conservative sitting member, is opposed by Mayor K. A. Blatchford, Liberal. The result in 1925 was:

NATURAL GAS IS TO BE AVAILABLE BY NOVEMBER 15

Our readers will note by the report of the Council meeting elsewhere in this issue, that a decided stride has been made in the proposition for obtaining a supply of natural gas for this coming fall, and we now have it on real good authority that the project has reached the final stages of instalment.

A meeting of the directors of the Wainwright Gas Co. Ltd. was held in the city last week and orders were given for the necessary supplies of pipes and fittings for this utility, and it is expected that the drilling machine to commence the trenching work will be arriving in town at the end of a week or ten days.

From what can be learned the company propose to prepare at once to arrange for the necessary supply of gas, and while this is being completed the pipe-laying will be also under way, so that it is practically guaranteed that the commodity will be available by the 15th of November at the very latest, as sixty days will be about all the time required to complete the whole of the initial work.

In this connection it is well to point out that applications are now being received for the installations into the residences, and these can be signed up at the "Star" office where a representative of the company will be in attendance to answer questions and explain all matters in regard to the service.

Get your application in early, as it will probably be a case of "first come, first served."

2000 BUFFALO HAVE BEEN SHIPPED TO NORTHERN RESERVE

The final shipment of 2300 buffalo completing the quota to the north for the season last week. This makes a total of 2011 animals rounded up, corralled and loaded this summer and with but one casualty. This animal charged the corral fence and the impact was sufficient to break his neck. Supt. Smith and the riders could not get to him in time to be congratulated on the efficiency maintained during this lively and dangerous work as it is quite possible that this number of domestic animals could not have been loaded with such a low casualty list.

A great number of visitors attended at the loading activities, and speak very highly of the unique spectacle viewed, making it quite worth their journey for a long distance to view the work.

DOMINION EXPRESS COMPANY CHANGE NAME; NEW STATUS

After forty-four years of operation during which it has grown up with the country and contributed in no small way to Canadian development, the Dominion Express Company will no longer be known by that name. After September first next that name transportation agency will be known as the Canadian Pacific-Express Company. In all parts of Canada and the United States and throughout the civilized world signs on the windows of the many hundreds of branch offices will be changed, and thus will be forged a still closer link with the great parent company whose railroad steamships, and hotels are known around the world.

To mark the change of name the company has issued an attractive little booklet giving a short history on its career and a synopsis of its present wide-spread activities. The Dominion Express Company was incorporated in 1873, but it was in 1882 that Mr. Van Horne, then president of the C.P.R., took it over as an operating part of the Canadian Pacific Railway. Mr. G. A. Kirkpatrick, later Sir George Kirkpatrick, Lt.-Gov. of Ontario, was its president, and Mr. W. S. Pratt, a young but thoroughly experienced press man, became its superintendent. Mr. Stuart is today president and has for many years guided its fortunes in that capacity.

For some years he and his assistants had a hard and uphill fight. They not only moved traffic but helped erect it by finding Canadian and foreign markets for Canadian products, and by scientific rate making encouraging the farmers, fruit growers and others whose markets were far away. The

STANDING OF PARTIES HOUSE OF COMMONS

Ottawa, August 16.—When the fifthteenth parliament of Canada was dissolved on July 2 last, the standing of the parties in the House of Commons were as follows:

Conservative	115
Liberal	101
Progressive	24
Labor	2
Independent	2
Seats vacant	1
Total	245

Portage la Prairie, Manitoba, was rendered vacant a few days before dissolution by the resignation of Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, who had been sworn in as prime minister and automatically vacated his seat to seek reelection as premier. Parliament was dissolved before a by-election was called.

BUSY GETTING THE HOSPITAL SCHEME IN SHAPE FOR VOTING

The matter of getting the municipal hospital scheme in shape for the voting which will take place upon the question as soon as the Minister of Health sets the date of the poll is being got into shape, and the members of the hospital board are working might and main that all may be in a position to know all the facts of the scheme before the polling day.

The provisional secretary informs us that meetings for this purpose are being arranged for different points in the district, and due notice of the date of these will be given, so that as many as possible can be in attendance.

It is proposed to have Mr. Whiston the government supervisor to speak at these meetings, and any questions which may arise in connection with the matter can soon be answered by this gentleman, who has made a study of the municipal hospitals scheme for the past nine years.

Talk hospital! Study the question!

WEDDING BELLS

BIBBY-SPRINGER

The Wainwright United church was the scene of a pretty wedding on Saturday evening last when the edifice was crowded to capacity to witness the nuptials between Miss Pauline Springer and Mr. William Bibby.

The Rev. L. Wright, of Irma, officiated, and the bride was given in marriage by Mr. H. V. Fieldhouse. The bride was very prettily attired in a costume of silver gray silk crepe with hat and shoes to match, and she carried a massive bouquet of Ophelia roses and sweet peas. She was attended by Miss Mahel Bowen as brides maid who was daintily dressed in a peach-colored georgette dress with hat to match, and who also carried a show bouquet of sweet peas and ferns.

The bridegroom's gift to the bride was a handsome gold brooch and to the best man, in which office Mr. G. Burke officiated, a pair of gold cuff links.

A large number of friends and well-wishers were in attendance at the reception at the bride's home which followed the ceremony, and all admired the very many costly and beautiful gifts which were received by the happy couple on their start down life's matrimonial highway.

MORRISON-ARKWRIGHT

A quiet little wedding took place in Edmonton last week, when Miss Madeline Mary Arkwright, of Wainwright, became the bride of Mr. Charles Morrison of Edmonton. The happy couple are spending their honeymoon at Jasper Park before returning to reside in the city.

CUPID'S DARTS

Mrs. Richard Arkwright announces the engagement of her daughter Maude to Mr. Patrick McLaren Murray, of Edmonton. The wedding will take place next month.

growth of the company over these many years is an interesting story of this country and its present position where it is daily entrusted with millions of dollars in goods and treasure by the public, business institutions and the government is a matter for justifiable pride. The booklet is handsomely illustrated and being widely distributed wherever the company operates.

COSTS OF DRILLING GREATLY REDUCED BY EXPERIMENTS OF DRILLER CAMPBELL

Shareholders in the many oil companies which are at present located or preparing to locate in the Wainwright field, will welcome the joyful news that the enormous costs of drilling their wells is now being cut down to a fraction of the original estimates, in the results of the researches and tests of Mr. Hugh Campbell, who incidentally was with Dave Credille the first to show any actual oil drilling in this field.

In the first many holes drilled in the district, coal was considered as the only possible fuel for the raising of the enormous amount of steam required for the job, but after "Hughie" had given much time and study to the problem, and had experimented with several "doo-fangled" contraptions he found that crude—as is being produced from all the new oil fields—gives a better and steadier heat for the purpose and this at a price which saves from $30.00 to $40.00 each and every working day of twenty-four hours.

In the earlier holes it was costing around $50.00 per day for coal alone while with the crude oil burners (which are costing only a few dollars to rig up) the price of this service is cut down to about $15.00 daily, twelve barrels of fuel oil being sufficient for the twenty-four hours' consumption.

Again, with regard to the cementing-in of the wells, it was formerly considered necessary to use a special oil-well cement at a cost of $5.00 per sack, and even this required some week or ten days to set. By experimentation Mr. Campbell has now discovered that ordinary Portland cement with the proper admixture of calcium chloride will do the same work as fast effectively in about 48 hours and at a cost of only $1.10 sack complete. As it requires some 100 sacks of cement to complete this process the big saving can easily be estimated. In fact so far as finishing off the bottom of the hole is concerned it means a saving of from $150.00 to $200.00, which is no mean item.

This big reduction in costs has all been worked out at the No. 2 hole of the Western Consolidated, where the latest producing well has been brought in, and great credit is due to Mr. Campbell for his valuable efforts along these lines and his advancement of field drilling work in general.

SUBSCRIBE FOR THE STAR ALL BRANCHES OF SERVICE SHOWN IN CANADIAN WAR FILM

There is no melodrama in "Ypres" the story of the Imortia Salient, whose character is epitomized in its title. It covers an astonishingly wide and interesting field. Every important branch of the service is shown in action, the realism of which never degenerates into "manoeuvres." His-story and history are so admirably blended that even the expert might be left guessing as to where one leaves off and the other begins. Room is found for most of the typical aspects of life in the salient, the humors and hardships of which will be appreciated no less by civilians than by veterans. The pictures of troops on the march, the King's visit to the front, the Commander-in-Chief at a train conference, are official records and much of the topography is actual.

Most of the fighting incidents have a comment sequel—the post-humous award of a V.C. And while this head-line method of retelling so much of the history was inevitable, it results in a certain though glorious monotony rather than odds with the dull monotony—whose happiest instance was only to be visualized in terms of a "hickory"—that was an even more characteristic feature of film life in the salient. This admirable film, provided its downright statements are filled out by a sympathetic imagination, the seeing of it should be a genuine stimulating and far from a saddening experience.

G. L. MORROW UNABLE TO ACCEPT FEDERAL NOMINATION

Vernilion—George L. Morrow, of Edgerton, who was selected at the convention held at Wainwright, as the Conservative candidate for the riding of Battle River, has written to J. W. G. Morrison, the secretary of the Conservative Association here, that because of orders from his medical adviser, he is unable to accept the nomination. Mr. Morrow states that immediately upon his being advised of the wish of the convention he consulted his physician and the latter pronounced that under no possible circumstances should he undertake the activities of a political campaign, in fact he advised a complete rest for several months. President Tregale, of the association, has directed that the matter of calling another convention be referred to the executive for immediate action. Just at present it is not known what course will be taken.

CONSERVATIVE NOMINATING CONVENTION

A Conservative Convention will be held at the Elite Theatre Wainwright, on Friday, August 27th, at three o'clock in the afternoon to nominate a Candidate to contest this Riding, in the forthcoming Federal Elections. All supporters of the party are asked to attend.

RAINS ASSISTED IN FILLING GRAIN SAYS CROP REPORT

The following is the ninth fortnightly crop report, issued by the Department of Agriculture on August 21st, 1926.

Harvesting of wheat is proceeding slowly, and is about 25 per cent. completed throughout the province. Late rains have held up the ripening process somewhat, and in a few locations have hindered harvesting, but in the main the rains have considerably assisted the filling of the grain, especially the late wheat and the coarse grains. The general effect has been good, save in one or two districts where the drought has been severe and where the grain is too far gone to recover. The districts thus affected, as has been previously stated, are very limited in extent. It may be safely stated that the rains which have come during the first two weeks of August will have the effect of adding considerably to the yield of wheat, and of causing recovery of much of the oats and barley which were making a poor showing.

There has been no frost to speak of, and the damage from hail has not been heavy this year. The supply is reported active in one or two localities, but damage is not extensive. A slight appearance of rust is reported from one district.

The weather remains cool and showery. The rains have been fairly general over the province during the past fortnight, being somewhat heavier in the central and southern portions.

The labor situation is well in hand and a sufficient supply of harvest hands is assured.

BRIDE OF PAST WEEK HONORED BY "SHOWER" PARTIES

As proving the great popularity of Miss Pauline Springer, who as our readers will well know has been "first lieutenant" of the staff of the "Star" office for years, a lady attended party was given in her honor at the home of Mrs. Geo. Glass last Tuesday evening and a truly merry time was enjoyed by all.

The presents which recognised the lovely nature of this popular bride were deposited in a full sized baby carriage in the center of the prettily decorated rooms, and these were finally handed over to Miss Springer by the Misses Georgina and Deloris Glass and Eleanor Gilhoni, who respectively represented a bride and groom and their flower girl.

Before departing refreshments were served to the gathering, and the best wishes for a long and happy married life were extended from Mrs. W. Bibby, Mrs. P. Springer, Mrs. J. Gerow, Mrs. H. MacDonald, Mrs. D. Brown, Mrs. R. Airth, Mrs. P. Wiley, Mrs. L. Gilhoni, Mrs. F. Stevens, Mrs. G. Johnson, Mrs. N. Harvey, and the Misses G. Fieldhouse, I. Hall, V. Walton, G. Price, N. Carroll, B. North, C. Forster, W. Forster, A. Revell, M. Kemp, A. Wiley, L. Mills, D. Brown, J. Sutherland, L. Howes, L. Gehring, M. Bowen, M. Harris and A. Dupre.

On Friday evening also the bride to be was the center of attraction at a "dainty-white hen party" in the rose and white decorated rooms was the order.

The first part of the evening was spent by the assemblage in games and contests and the prize winners of the various events were: The Misses G. Fieldhouse, A. Wiley, L. Hall, and P. Springer.

Following a toast to the guest of honor, she was veritably "showered" with all the pretty gifts of lingerie which descended upon her from a cleverly conceived "hen's nest," after which a delicious lunch was served by the hostess and her willing helpers.

The guests, all of whom were intimate friends of the bride included Mrs. A. Adams, Mrs. J. Gerow, Mrs. E. Gaudet, Mrs. L. Tebo, Mrs. W. Ketchum, Mrs. F. Heckett, Mrs. J. Gilhoni, Mrs. R. Airth, Mrs. I. Gilhoni, Mrs. G. Glass, Mrs. W. Bibby, Mrs. H. MacDonald, and the Misses M. Bowen, F. Finch, A. Fieldhouse, G. Price, L. Hall, L. Mills, G. Fieldhouse, J. Sutherland, M. Kemp, L. Gehring and N. Carroll.

You tell 'em Wainwright, you've got the pretty girls.

THE GOLDEN COCOON
RUTH CROSS

"The Golden Cocoon," with Helen Chadwick is a picturization of this novel by Warner Bros. Pictures, Inc.
Copyright, 1926, by Warner Bros. Pictures, Inc.

Mrs. Parker was in the throes of getting things ready for the girls who would be arriving now on every train. But she found time to tell Molly the little that had happened in her absence while the two ate a quiet supper on the corner of one of the long tables in the empty dining room. The faculty club had reopened the day before, claiming the last of her summer. "meal"—Stephen Renfro included. His name had not been actually mentioned before, and when Molly's face lost perceptibly some of its radiance, the little lady's grandmother added casually that he never went by without looking in to pass a joke with her. They were on the front porch, making some show of conversation and both keyed for an hurried footstep on the walk, when he came round the corner—tall, graceful, distinguished in white flannels and a dark coat. He swept off his hat with a little extra half-humorous flourish at sight of Molly whose heart was thumping so painfully she dared not trust herself at first to speak. He shook hands, asked how she was and settled himself apparently content for one of their old-time three-cornered chats. But when Mrs. Parker, making plausible excuse of "all them pesky girls" slipped away, he leaned forward abruptly and took both Molly's hand in his. "Poor little un," he said in his half-of Olympus, he came strolling round the corner and Molly's bruised and battered spirit soared heavenward out of the bottomless pit. He made no comment on his absence, but explained that it would not be possible for him to see as much of her as heretofore. It might cause unpleasant gossip. Molly's heart started again on the descent to the pit.

When he rose to go—much earlier than was his custom—she was so silent and despondent that he relaxed a little his Olympian manner. He caught her drooping shoulders, and drew her to him, growling softly under his breath that she was a "bad, suspicious child." Then he stooped very deliberately and kissed her. He pushed her off, studied her white, downcast face for some moments in a tolerant diverted silence, and—kissed her again. Chuckling to himself, he seized her crushed her down in his arms, kissed her mouth, her brow, her hair, her throat, even her ears and the spots behind her ears. When he had finished entirely at this leisure—he thrust her away again, took up his hat, and moved off toward the steps with his usual air of sauntering grace. From the gate he called a humorous good night.
Molly leaned back stunned, all but lifeless, against a post—eyes closed, the fingers of one hand clenched tightly into the folds of her skirt. She could not—she would not go back into the hell of his displeasure, the hell of his staying away from her. And that was only the blank side. There was this other, this tumult that, while it might not be of heaven, was certainly not of earth, this swooning rapture strung to the pitch where pleasure and torment become one and indistinguishable—the rapture of his touch, his lips on hers.
It was her first compromise with life, but not the last.

CHAPTER IX

One evening Sembrich was to sing at the university auditorium, and Molly and Mrs. Parker had secured the cheapest seats—far around the side in the gallery. Even at that, Molly felt she was stealing the fifty cents from her mother and the children—prepared to drink in the music all the more reverently because it was so dearly bought. In the final hush before the prima donna was to appear there was a stir in the neighborhood of the balcony. The auditorium bowed a but two boxes. The one nearest Molly was occupied by the president of the university and his wife; the other had remained empty. Now a group of elegantly gown women and men in evening dress filtered through the velvet curtain at the back.
Molly leaned forward to admire the beautiful toilettes and as she dressed the softly voluptuous wraps, which slipping downward revealed rounded white arms and gleaming shoulders. Of a sudden she dropped back in her seat a choking cry frozen on her lips. At that moment adjusting the chain for the youngest and handsomest of the women, murmuring the while, "aching exquisite and smiling in her eyes." Molly knew that it was awful—knew too well that look—that smile. She could almost hear the tone that went with them.
She closed her eyes caught her quivering lips fiercely between her teeth, shrank down into the smallest conceivable space. How dreadful if he should see her should guess how she was suffering, should pity her... She roared a little presently and looked round with some vague, desperate thought of escape. If she could only get out without being seen, without creating a commotion... But, no, she was hemmed in on every side tripped like a wounded animal. Turning and twisting silently, writhing in her anguish to escape, she encountered Mrs. Parker's seared stricken gaze.

"Of course he's bound to be invited out a lot," the latter whispered with a brave effort of pooh poohing the whole thing, "a fine handsome man like him—and so entertaining! That's millionaire Dilworth's daughter he's with. Poor Molly, all her long-anticipated joy in the music, all the acute spirit-release she was used to getting out of it, turned to ashes and grapes of gall. She determined not to look at that spot opposite, but she could look no where else. She saw every move... every gesture every glance of Stephens and the girl's. She knew when he was saying something witty or clever before the smiles or politely restrained laughter of his little audience proclaimed it. She noted even the careless rather indolent manner in which he applauded, as much as to say that that might be left to the gallery.

"He asked you to go to a play considered indecent."

"See the man at the other end of the box from Stephen...? Mrs. Parker kept up still a subdued stream of chatter, as if she hoped this to make it up to Molly. "That's Gregory Cochran. He's a great man—in politics and every way—a judge and a lawyer and don't know what all..."

Molly turned her eyes dully in the direction indicated—anything in order not to look at Stephen's eyes. At first, she was conscious only of a blur of black and white. Then slowly there emerged, like a figure out of delirium, square, solidly built shoulders, a squarish, chestnut bronzed head a face not set to mirroring readily its owner's slight and emotions. There was an odd effect of masterliness, too, though one could see even at that distance that he was hard and sparsely fleshed as a Texas plainsman. While she continued to stare with dreary, anguish-glazed eyes, the man leaned forward and made some laughing remark to the magnificent old white-haired lady in front of him. Again the suggestion of mass, almost of cum broussness.

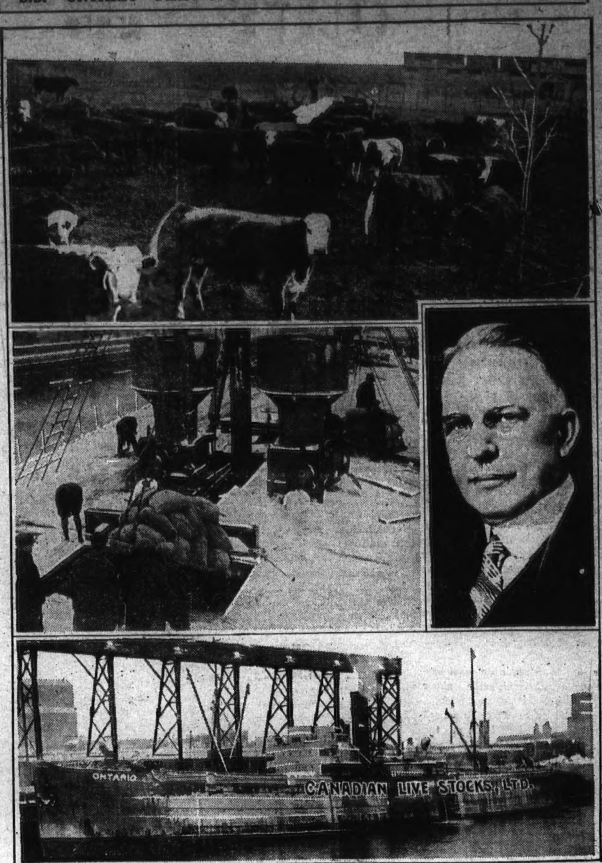

"That's his mother," Mrs. Parker chirped guardedly behind her hand. "The mighty-tighty one who looks as if she'd just swallowed a poker..." The honest little heady smiles were apt occasionally to be more glibly than reverent. "They're grand folks. He could have been Governor half a dozen times if he'd wanted, and goodness knows what besides..."

At the first intermission Molly made good her escape.

That night was marked by a fiery cross. She never spoke to Stephen about it never let him know even that she had gone to the concert. A poor ruse for saving the last shreds of her self-respect. Then, too, she "did him justice. He had a right to go where he pleased and with whom he pleased. She had no hold on him other than his self-satisfying half-brothering kindness saw fit to acknowledge. He had, it was true, made love to her, beautiful, invincible love; but not in any vulgar, taggible way that you could put your finger

S.S. "ONTARIO" FIRST UNIT IN ALL-CATTLE TRANSATLANTIC FLEET

A NEW era in Canada's export cattle trade is believed to have been begun with the organization of the Livestock Steamships Limited, is due to Mr. H. P. Kennedy, president of the Livestock Producers of Canada—probably the largest exporter of cattle in the Dominion—and Albert Jensen, steamship operator of Copenhagen and London. With them are associated in the venture a group of men in Toronto, Winnipeg, Edmonton and other parts of Canada. Mr. Kennedy is shown in the group of pictures above. Beside him is a scene on board the S.S. Ontario, showing the loading of feed for the first cargo. While the photograph at the top is of a group of cattle on one of Mr. Kennedy's feed lots adjoining the Canadian National Railway at Edmonton, where many hundred head of cattle have been prepared for export during the past two years under his supervision.
The "Ontario" is the first of four sister ships to be placed in operation immediately and is equipped to carry cattle on five decks. All decks are of steel and cement construction and access is had to each by runways and elevators. Each deck is divided into a series of stalls, each of which accommodates four animals. Ventilation is provided by a series of turbine ventilators, which produce a complete change of air on every deck every six minutes. The schedule calls for a round trip by the "Ontario" every 37 days and the cattle industry of Canada will be able to control the steamship to any desired port, thereby ensuring to the shipper the best market prices.—C.N.R. WAINWRIGHT, ALBERTA AUGUST 25th, 1926

OUR VOTING POPULATION THEIR DUTY

We are once again in the throes of an election contest. Our Canadian parliament, as constituted after the last electoral contest, proved to be a rather inefficient machine. No party was strong enough to form a government which could get very far with anything in the nature of constructive legislation. It was all very unfortunate, and especially at this period of the life of our young nation. Canada is already overburdened with taxation, and the cost of an election contest will be no small added item. Anyway it appears that the results of the last election made the present one inevitable.

In a democracy like ours, the people become the final arbiters on all questions of provincial or national concern. And at this time in Canada the people are asked not only to pass judgment upon such an age-old question as the tariff, but also upon the propriety constitutionally of the Governor-General refusing to dissolve parliament when requested to do so by the Premier. Charges of a very grave nature have been made against a certain department of the late government, and after considerable investigation, the members of the opposition claim that their charges were well founded, while the persons most responsible for that department insist that the probe has revealed nothing of a very serious character. All the facts have been made public, and it is now for the voter to make his decision. Moreover, there is for the people to decide whether or not they are to have a government after September 14th which will have a sufficient working majority to carry on with such legislation as our country imperatively demands. The last parliament certainly found itself in a predicament which it of itself was impotent to overcome. It is now for the electorate to find the proper solution.

A very casual consideration of Canada's present political life will impress on one the great necessity of an enlightened voting population. Surely the problems we have cited above are of sufficient gravity to demand the very serious study of everyone who has the right of franchise in this country. The future of our nation is at stake, and a mistake now may be fraught with much evil consequence.

It behooves Canadians, then to study and study well the issues of the present campaign. There is little of a racial or religious character which can influence the average voter. There is the danger, however, of a narrow provincial outlook on the part of voters in some parts of our very wide Dominion. This latter is to say the least unfortunate. Each section of our country should try to grasp the truth, positively economically sound, that anything in the nature of legislation which is harmful to one part of the country, will prove eventually harmful to every other part. Sectionalism is opposed to all that is best in the political life of a country. It destroys every sense of nationalism and renders impossible any program of constructive national legislation. Every voter who wishes to see our country prosper should try to grasp this fact, and when exercising his franchise right should feel that no sectional or other party petty interest is to prevent him from discharging his duty as a citizen who views our problems in their larger national aspect.

WEEDS A NATIONAL PROBLEM

(Experimental Farms Note)

Travelling through Canada in mid-summer one is struck by the prevalence and diversity of weeds. Whole districts, certainly fields, can be described as white, blue, yellow or green—the green to often unfortunately, of course grass rather than of clean, vigorously growing crops. The occurrence, here and there, of exceptions to the rule, simply demonstrates the possibility of better things.

Losses to farmers and to Canada totalling many millions of dollars annually, are represented by this riot of color. Any means however partial of reducing such waste, must therefore command respect.

Much of eastern Canada is fit only for a forest crop. Fire and axe have exposed to the incursion of weeds, millions of acres that can only be a menace to adjoining lands, until retarded by governmental or municipal action largely to its own proper use.

A large additional area the farmer can only be described as very low-pressure cropping indeed. The land lies in hay or pasture chiefly, and in a year or two from the plow, produces herbage unmarketable as hay. Until brought under a more intensive agriculture, or correct permanent pasture management, returns from such farms will be meagre.

In more advanced farming districts there is a noticeable decrease of such conspicuous but readily (under cultivation) suppressed as buttercup, ox-eye daisy, and the hawkweeds. In their place, according to locality, appear various mustards, thistles and others. Certain weeds are more or less indicative of over-reliance on grain crops, others prevail in clover-seed growing districts, fruit or trucking lands, etc. Perennial sow thistle invades the richer soils, especially if poorly drained. Russian thistle, the lighter regions; sheep sorrel those in need of liming. Everywhere some weed is ready to seize an opportunity. Man's only hope now, of comparative freedom from weeds is to occupy every inch with adapted crops well planted and carefully husbanded according to sound principles of tillage and plant growth. Only so can he possibly forestall Nature's constant effort to replace lost vegetation—of forest, east and west, and prairie in the vast interior of Canada.

Mrs. Omer Croteau is entertaining her brother this week, who is here on a visit from Quebec.

BULLETIN FROM PROVINCIAL GOVT.

Would Send Norsemen Here

Division of the stream of immigrant farm labor from the United States to Saskatchewan and Alberta will be recommended by Arne Kildal, secretary of the International League for Norsemen, for that class of immigrant labor from Norway.

Mr. Kildal, who is on his way back to Norway after a tour of investigation of agricultural possibilities for his countrymen in Saskatchewan and Alberta, said the surplus farm labor must find an outlet. He said the northwest provinces of Canada offer the best possibilities for those who wished to settle down to a life of farming.

Terminate Railway Agreement

Formal notices have been served on the Canadian Pacific Railway through the attorney general's department terminating the agreements in respect to the E.D. & B.C. and Central Canada railways. These notices, which follow up the preliminary advice given recently by Premier Brodeur, take effect as from August 10. Under the terms of the original agreement three months warning is called for and the arrangement between the C.P.R. and the provincial government by which the former operates the northern railways, will therefore expire November 10 next.

Attorney General Lynburn and Hon. V. W. Smith, minister of railways, both state that the next move in the case is if the C.P.R. purposes negotiating for a new lease, must come from that source. The way is still open, they point out for further offers from either of the transcontinental railways, but if satisfactory and acceptable terms are not arranged in this way, the two lines be operated by the government itself through its railway department.

Alberta Tax Commission

Sittings of the Alberta Tax Commission, under the chairmanship of Dr. H. M. Torg, will be held in Calgary on September 15 and 16, in Lethbridge on September 16 and in Medicine Hat on September 17, according to an announcement from Edmonton.

Sittings in each case will be held 2:30 p.m. to 4:30 p.m. in the City Council Chamber.

The sittings of the Commission are wide open to any who wish to appear before it. Any individual taxpayer, large or small, any tax-paying corporation or organization, or any taxing authority is at liberty to present whatever views they may wish to the Commission on the matter of taxation. Those who wish to appear before the committee with any matter, however are asked to notify the Secretary, Robert English, Government Buildings, at Edmonton.

Goes To Argentine

W. J. Jackman, director of the wheat pool, has left for Argentina to study wheat producing and distributing conditions in that country. Mr. Jackman will carry on his investigations on behalf of the three wheat pools and will be absent about three months.

To Discuss Immigration

Lord Clarendon, under secretary of state for dominion affairs, and T. C. MacNaughton, C.M.G., C.B.E., vice chairman of the overseas settlement committee, who are making a thorough and comprehensive tour of the dominion in the interests of the Imperial government in connection with the "3,000-family scheme" will arrive in Edmonton about the end of the month.

May Send Many Settlers

Representing the government of Norway and Sweden, a delegation is in the West to investigate conditions of land settlements for immigration, prices of land, condition of employment, co-operative marketing of grain and the Canadian system of soldier re-establishment. As a result of their investigations, it is possible that there will be a settlement in western Canada of 12,000 Norwegian immigrants per year in the future.

Death of Dr. Laidlaw

The sudden death of Dr. W. C. Laidlaw, provincial deputy minister of health, took place at his home in Edmonton, Sunday morning, August 15.

The late Dr. Laidlaw was appointed to the position of Provincial Medical Officer of Health, in June 1912. At that time the public health service was a branch of the Department of Agriculture. In the early fall of 1914 he went overseas, and when he returned in 1918, the public health service had become a separate Department under the late Hon. A. G. MacKay, the Deputy Minister being Dr. Norman. Dr. Laidlaw again took up his duties as Medical Health Officer until the retirement of Dr. Norman in 1921, when he was appointed Deputy Minister of Health.

Dr. Laidlaw was a Veteran of the South African War, having served as Artillery Officer in that Campaign. When the great war broke out in 1914 he again offered his services, and was sent to France as medical officer of the 4th brigade. Later he was transferred to headquarters staff of the Canadian Corps, as sanitary officer, which post he filled until the close of the war.

Annual Telephone Contest

Judging in the annual building and sounds competition among the various exchanges of the provincial government telephone service, was completed on Saturday last by the judges A. M. Mitchell and C. G. Groff. The shield and first prize was awarded to Louise exchange, Calgary, for the best buildings and grounds, and this exchange also won the prize for the best advertising. The second prize goes to Didsbury exchange, and the third to Strathmore, which is also granted the prize for best interior.

Wetaskiwin and Sedgewick are given special mention. This is the fifth year of the contest, which was initiated for the purpose of inciting the staffs at the various exchanges to improve the grounds and buildings. The effect has been the building up of some very fine grounds around the exchanges.

16 FEDERAL SEATS

Bury (C) 3,927; McLennan (L), 3,440; Latham (Lab.), 2,767.

Edmonton West—Col. F. C. Jamieson, Conservative, and Hon. Charles Stewart, minister of interior in the King government, are in the field. The result in 1925 was: Stewart (L), 6,394; Douglas (C), 4,706; East (Lab.), 2,007.

Lethbridge—L. H. Jelliff, Progressive sitting member, is the only candidate in the field up to the present. He will likely be opposed in a straight fight by a Conservative. The result in 1925 was: Jelliff (P), 5,399; Stewart (C), 4,656.

Macleod—John Herron, Conservative, and G. S. Coote, Progressive sitting member, are in the field. The result in 1925 was: Coote (P) 4,943; Herron (C), 4,239; Miles (L), 1,941.

Medicine Hat—Three candidates, G. M. Blackstock, Conservative, F. W. Gershaw, sitting Liberal member, and Carl Axelsson, Progressive, are in the field. The result in 1925 was: Gershaw (L), 4,383; Blackstock (C) 3,209; MacDaniel (P), 2,039.

Peace River—James A. Collins, Conservative, is opposing the Progressive sitting member, D. M. Kennedy, before it. Any individual taxpayer, large or small, any tax-paying corporation or organization, or any taxing authority is at liberty to present whatever views they may wish to the Committee on the matter of taxation. Those who wish to appear before the committee with any matter, however are asked to notify the Secretary, Robert English, Government Buildings, at Edmonton.

Red Deer—J. G. LaFrance, Conservative candidate, is again opposing the Progressive sitting member, A. Speakman. The result in 1925 was: Speakman (P), 3,851; McKeeher (L) 2,462; LaFrance (C), 2,029.

Vegreville—The sitting Progressive member, A. M. Boutillier, lost his convention and Mike Lukovitch is in the field for the Progressive party. He is opposed by J. S. McCallum, Liberal. The result in 1925 was: Boutillier (P), 5,103; Gordon (L), 2,643.

Wetaskiwin—S. G. Tobin, Liberal sitting member, is opposed by Charles H. Russell, Conservative, and William Irvine, Progressive. Mr. Irvine sat as a Labor member for Calgary East previous to the 1925 election. The result in 1925 was: Tobin (L), 3,429; Warner (P), 3,201; Russell (C), 2,121.

ANNUAL POW-WOW OF JASPER SQUADRON OF TRAIL RIDERS AT BEAUTIFUL MALIGNE LAKE

NEARLY all of Canada and several of the eastern United States, as well as far away India and the British Isles, were represented at the first annual pow-wow of the Jasper Squadron of Trail Riders of the Canadian Rockies on July 21st, held in the heart of Jasper National Park and 35 miles from the nearest settlement. Around the big camp fire, built so close to the shore of Maligne Lake that its flames mingled with the snow-tipped reflections of the great mountain peaks which surround this finest of all Rocky Mountain lakes, gathered the riders who made the trail trip.

The pow-wow was called to order by Major Fred Brewster, commander of the squadron, and vice-president of the main body, and by a unanimous vote the following slate of officers was re-elected for 1926-27: Commander, Major Fred Brewster; secretary-treasurer, H. S. Davie; mileage committee, H. W. Langford, Dicky Harris, T. W. McDonough and Donald Currie; Phillips. A decision was reached to hold the next annual pow-wow in the Tongva Valley, beside Armstrong Lake, at the foot of the "Sams-parts," where the Canadian Alpine Club is holding its annual meeting this month.

Numbering more than 100 members, the Jasper Squadron represents almost every country in the world, including on its roll such personages as the Earl and Countess Haig; Yuki Maki, greatest of all Japanese Alpinists; Nisha Moto, son of the Premier of Japan; Sir Henry Thornton, president of the Canadian National Railways; Irving Cummings and J. Farrel Macdonald, of movie fame.

Those in attendance at Maligne Lake were: Miss M. E. Nickell, Toronto; Miss C. R. Nickell and Miss Hazel Reid, Calgary; Mrs. C. L. Weldon, Calcutta; Miss Rosalie Eaubert, Brooklyn; Mr. W. H. Jones, New York City; Mr. Henry C. Fowler, Toronto; Professor and Mrs. Albert Britt, Galesburg, Ill.; Professor H. W. Sheldon, Edmonton; George H. Browne, Cambridge, Mass.; Professor E. V. Huntington, Harvard University, Cambridge; Osborne Scott, general passenger agent, Canadian National Railways, Winnipeg; Ray Peck and Arthur Carter, Ottawa; W. H. Robinson and C. H. Lash, Montreal; Joe Har-

The top picture shows Maligne Lake, glacial fed and nestled among the Onal Hills with snow-capped mountains in the background. The Trail Riders in the foreground, from left to right, are Ray Peck, Miss Hazel Reid, Osborne Scott, Miss M. E. Nickell, H. S. Davis, Miss C. R. Nickell, Henry C. Fowler and P. H. Jones.

Golden Cocoon

er on and say he meant this or so. Then came the crisis. She turned from the telephone one morning with a rapt, luminous face. 'Stephen has asked me to go to the theater with him,' she said, trying hard to keep the tremulous exultation out of her voice. 'tomorrow night!'

Of a sudden, she grew numb. The receiver dropped from her hand. But I haven't anything to wear... The despairing afterthought was almost a wail.

'You've got to have something, that is, all Mrs. Parker mumbled. That afternoon she came to Molly's room with a letter in her hand. She seemed not quite her normal self, flustered and flurried, as though she had just finished doing battle with some power unseen. 'The Lord has provided,' she announced solemnly. And before Molly's incredulous eyes—she was always suspicious of some chicanery about answer to prayer—five crisp new ten-dollar bills were spread impressively upon the bed.

Thirty dollars, Mrs. Parker figured absorbedly on the back of her letter as they rode down in the street car, would buy a very good suit; these were the days when a suit could be bought for thirty dollars. Five more would get a nice blouse, then five for shoes... Hum-m that left only ten for a pair of silk stockings.

CHAPTER X

'Uh-huh... Stephen let out a prolonged, impressed whistle as he entered the parlor next evening, trying his level best not to look self-conscious. 'Where did we come by all the gladness?' Laughing, he caught her by the shoulders and revolved her slowly at arm's length.

'Do you like them—really?' she asked anxiously. She had known at once that there was something; he was not entirely satisfied. Perhaps after all the shape of the hat—she hadn't felt sure about that...'

But his hearty tone belied the critical cast in his eyes. 'Looks like a million dollars, doesn't she?' He turned to the little fairy godmother, who had not for the life of her been able to resist pecking in to see how he was taking it.

That evening was one of Molly's brief seasons of perfection. She and Stephen departed and returned in a taxi—unheard of elegance among the girls, who were gazing awestruck from upstairs windows. Stephen was resplendent in full evening dress; just as he had been that night in the box. The play was "Sappho" with Olga Netherland. Molly, who had never seen a good actress nor a well-staged production before, sat spellbound, enthralled by the emotion which she herself managed to inject into the melodramatic, old-fashioned piece. That seemed enough for one evening. To have Stephen alone to walk down the aisle with him, to let him help her off with her coat, to sit beside him, listen to his humorous comments and in interludes, his fascinating reminiscences about the wonderful plays and players he had seen in New York—it was almost too much happiness.

'If it's Stephen,' she said, 'I don't want to see him.'

It was well she tasted her small triumph while she could. Next morning Miss Brian the instructor who had charge of the rural scholarships, asked her to stay when class was over. Molly followed mystified into her office and seated herself in the chair indicated. Miss Brian did not speak at once, but sat looking out rather comfortly through the window by her desk, troubled lines about her mouth and across her wide, white brow. Finally she turned with one of her capable practical motifs.

'My dear,' she began kindly 'I'm sorry to see that you're not looking well.'

Molly, who had been growing rest less and vaguely uneasy, started, surprised. 'I am, though,' she said. Indeed she had never felt so well in her life, so exuberant and sparkling—and this in spite of her sleepless night.

Miss Brian looked at her thoughtfully. 'Your name came up at a little faculty meeting the other day,' she went on 'and I was disappointed—we were all disappointed—to learn that your work for the year has fallen considerably below your usual standard.'

New $5,000,000 Cold Storage Plant

Negotiations have been completed for the erection and work will be commenced upon a terminal warehouse and cold storage plant to cost in the neighborhood of five million dollars and to be located just below the Place Viger Station on Craig street, Montreal, according to information given out at Canadian Pacific Railway headquarters. The plant will be built by the Montreal Rail and Harbor Terminals, Limited. It will have a space area of 600,000 square feet, of which one-third will be devoted to refrigerator purposes, the balance to be used as dry storage for package freight and other merchandise. It will be of the most modern construction of concrete throughout.

The building, which will be ten stories in height, will, it is stated, be completed in ten months' time and the roof will be on before frost commences. The Montreal plant will be built on property purchased from the Canadian Pacific Railway and will serve the tracks and shipping facilities of that company. It will be in no sense competitive with any other concern of a similar nature in Montreal, but will develop and expand its own business, handling in particular butter, cheese, eggs and other dairy products, so far as its cold storage end is concerned, while its dry storage space will be amply taken up with package freight and other merchandise.

moderate cost

There is princely luxury and refinement apparent in every detail of the 1927 McLaughlin-Buick. New Coronation Colors in Duo, the year's latest custom shades for exterior finishes; new and exclusive upholsterings and interiorware in the beautiful, new, closed bodies by Fisher; recessed windows with two-tone custom effects; jet black tires and jet black rims—These are but a few of many smart features which distinguish these remarkable new motor cars. And McLaughlin-Buick luxury costs much less than you may pay elsewhere for similar value. That is an advantage of enormous volume. Come in today and see the Greatest McLaughlin-Buick Ever Built.

You have never seen a car like this before. For over three years Willys-Overland engineers in Europe and America have been developing it. Over half a million miles of road tests proved the practical advantages of this car before it was released for production. It is a complete new car... designed and built as a unit... not an old-fashioned, reconstructed chassis. With the introduction of the Overland Whippet, it is dangerous today to consider the purchase of a less modern car. In fairness to yourself, see this wonderful new-type car.
